Mr. Osovsky Reports on National Conference of Jewish Social Workers; Hadassah Has Active Week—Ezrah Chapter presents Interesting Musical Program; Jewish Students Win Scholarships at University of Manitoba. Haid-Morganstern Wedding Raison d'Etre of Many Interesting Social Activities. Personal and Social.

"In order to assure insertion in next issue, all items for publication must be in the hands of our correspondents (Miss Zoe Isaacs, 200 Balmoral Street, or phone Sherbrooke 4724) not later than Thursday morning of each week."

Mr. Osovsky's Report

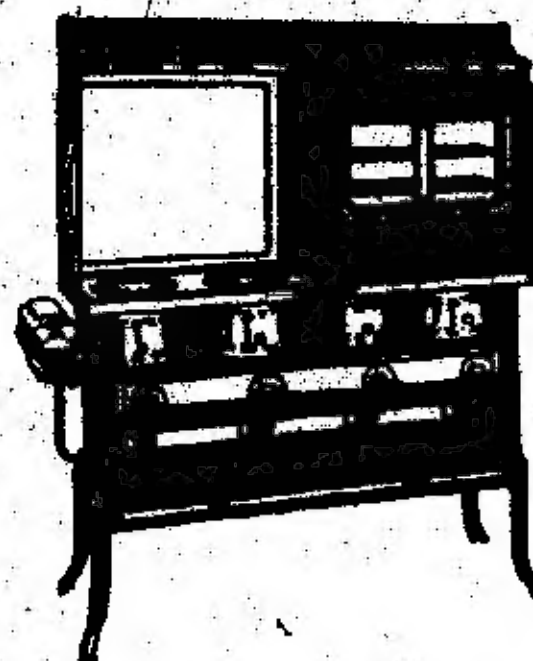

An executive meeting of the Jewish Orphanage was held at the home, Matheson Avenue, Sunday morning, June 10. A report was read by Mr. Osovsky the Superintendent of the Home on the 24th National Conference of Jewish Social Workers which he attended in Washington, D.C., May 13-16, in the Halls de Nation of the Washington Hotel. The most important points that Mr. Osovsky wanted to enquire about in the interest of the Home here are as follows: The menu in regard to the most necessary items of food to give the children to enable them to have a good constitution and the use of foods from which they will derive the most benefit—clothing—sex—aftercare—recreation—adoption—staff of institution—mental hygiene—admission and discharge—training—high school education—psychology. Following is the procedure of work as it was taken up at the Conference. The Conference opened at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 13, and the first thing dealt with was the budgeting committee, who reported activities of seven societies which were investigated, namely: Hebrew Immigrant Aid, Hebrew Agricultural and Farm School, Hebrew National Research Bureau, Hebrew Denver Sanatorium, Hebrew Consumptive Aid in Los Angeles, The Hebrew Sheltering and Guardian Aid, and the National Research Bureau. These institutions are purely Jewish ones, but are open to non-Jews as well; this question was gone into to a great extent and discussed upon. Monday, two reports were read on training schools. Tuesday, Judge Jacob Moses and Paul Blanchard were the speakers of the day, choosing as their subjects the Big Brother and Sister Movement and social work from a labor point of view. In the afternoon, the question of child care was thoroughly discussed. Mr. Saul Drucker of Baltimore, author of the book "Children Astray," dealt with life in the large homes and the details of staffs, etc. A league of superintendents of the large institutions was formed to exchange their ideas on the work from time to time. Comparative education was also discussed at this meeting. The big issue of the day was the matter of boarding of the children in non-Jewish homes, because in some Jewish institutions, children under the age of five and in some places children between the ages of five and ten are not admitted owing to the by-laws of these organizations. At this point of the meeting, Mr. Osovsky took the floor for the first time and after a lengthy discussion it was decided that no children shall be put into non-Jewish homes. (In New York City alone, over eight hundred Jewish children are boarded out in non-Jewish homes.) So with this new resolution being passed it will indeed be a great aid in the bringing up of the Jewish child in the right path. Then Mr. Osovsky described his personal survey of five of the largest Jewish homes which he went through on his trip, these being the New York Hebrew Orphan Asylum, Cleveland Hebrew Orphan Asylum, Pleasant Ville Home, Baltimore Home, and the Chicago Marks Nathan Home. After this the aftercare problem was discussed in regard to what interest is taken in the child by the authorities of the home after the child has gone out into the world. It was stated that a child that has been in a home for a number of years does not require such close supervision as the child who has been in a home for a shorter time, as the latter has not had the advantage of the training and discipline and is cast out among entirely different surroundings, thus needing the closer supervision of the aftercare committee after leaving the home. The vocation of the children was the next problem and it was advised that every child be given a high school education, particularly the backward ones. It was also suggested that proper trade schools be formed for them and each child given an educational test in order to find out what line of work they are best adapted for. It was shown that in the larger cities, the children have more advantages in the recreation line than ours, as the homes, being in much better financial conditions, are able to provide them with proper gymnasia with instructors, etc. Then the unsolved question of adoption was dealt with. It was decided to form an admission and discharge committee consisting of three members to properly investigate the families applying for admission so that there will be no chance of children being admitted who later might be found to be undesirable. Psychological tests of the backward children were strongly recommended. In reference to our library, it was found that a wider range of books is needed and a librarian to take charge, who will also point out to the children the mental value of certain books and keep them posted on desirable literature. The staffs of the large homes are three times the number of ours; however, ours compares favorably with the other homes in proportion to the wealth and population, and the larger homes seem to lack the home atmosphere that surrounds the children here.

HADASSAH Winnipeg Chapter

A general meeting of the Winnipeg Chapter of Hadassah took place Tuesday evening, June 12, at the Zionist Headquarters, the president, Mrs. H. E. Wilder in the chair. It was decided to postpone the membership drive which had recently been decided upon, until the beginning of the fall owing to the large number of members who are leaving the city for the summer months. The silver tea which was to have taken place at the home of Mrs. A. Stein, on June 20, has had to be changed owing to the illness of Mrs. Stein, and will take place on the above date at the home of Mrs. H. E. Wilder, 454 Mountain Avenue. Those who will receive with Mrs. Wilder will be: Mrs. Stockhammer, Mrs. Chertov, Mrs. Stambler, Mrs. Lynos, Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Belkin, Mrs. David and Mrs. Schluss. The proceeds of this affair will go toward buying materials for garments to be made here and used in the hostels and hospitals in Palestine. An interesting feature of this meeting was the presentation to Mrs. Wilder of a certificate of six trees planted in Palestine for her, the occasion being her fifteenth wedding anniversary. The treasurer, Mrs. Schluss, made the presentation with a very appropriate speech in which she expressed on behalf of all the members the

ELECTION DAY, MONDAY, JUNE 25, 1923

Closing Exercises of the Goel Tzedek Sunday School

The closing of the Sunday School of the University Avenue Synagog was celebrated by suitable exercises. The children gathered in the chambers of the Synagog and marched up by classes to the Synagog proper, where they took seats in the centre section, the side sections being reserved for their parents and friends. The platform was decorated with beautiful ferns and a white silk curtain constituted the background. The exercises were opened with a prayer by Rabbi Siegel.

The first numbers on the program were three ten-minute talks by children of the school on "The Holiday I Love Best and Why," for which they had previously been awarded prizes in an oratorical contest. The speakers were: Helen Schiff, Annie Schwartz and Bella Bochner. Sarah Siegel, of Class 3, then played a selection on the piano. Phyllis Lester recited Jessie Sampter's "Home in Palestine." Bella Berger, of Class 4, then gave her prize-winning essay on the Synagog, showing the places of importance it held in Jewish life.

The number that followed was a novel idea of Rabbi Siegel's called "The Procession of Heroes." The groundwork for this was taken from the Book of Sirach in which the heroes of Israel are praised and eulogized. As the heroes were mentioned by the announcers they appeared on the platform and in a few stanzas composed for the occasion by Rabbi Siegel gave the story of their lives and their mission. Following took part in this number: Announcers, Helen and Annie Schwartz; Abraham, Harold Smith; Isaac, Irving Hoffman; Jacob, Morris Prowsky; Moses and Aaron, Harold and Leonard Smith; Miriam, Ada Cohen; Jephthah's Daughter, Lillie Rosen; Samuel, Lionel Lester; David, Sidney Sher; Solomon, Morris Shapiro. Miss Gertrude Krasnow, accompanied by Miss Adamson, played a violin solo.

Promotion cards and regular attendance prizes were then distributed. Prizes were also awarded to the two best scholars in each class, as follows, Class I, Billy Saligsburg, first prize, Herber Shenman, second prize. Class II: Garfield Cass, first, Ralph Pikus, second. Class III, Sarah Siegel, first, Lionel Cohen, second. Class IV, Bella Berger and Bella Bochner, first, Helen Schiff and Ada Cohen, second. Class V, Mary Hattin, first, David Cohen, second. Class VI (graduating class), Lillian Shenman, first, Irving Hoffman, second.

The prizes for Classes I, II and III consisted of a miniature Scroll of the Law for first prize and a miniature mezzuzah for second prize. For Classes IV, V, VI, the first prize was a beautifully bound volume of "The Ethics of the Fathers," edited and annotated by Rabbi Herbert Goldstein, and second prize a volume of the "Home Service" by the same editor.

Morris Prowsky, of the graduating class, was awarded the school medal for the year 1922-23 annually presented to the school by the Council of Jewish Women and awarded to the best scholar of the graduating class.

A token was presented to Mr. Dan Denberg, teacher of Class IV. Miss Mary Levin and Miss Wolfson, also teachers, and Miss Annie Chaikim, secretary of the school, received gifts for their work. Rabbi Siegel thanked Mr. Murray Keyfetz and Mr. A. Smith for their work as teachers, and also Mr. Harry Pullan who has given unstintingly of his time and energy as supervisor of the school. Mrs. A. Samuel spoke on behalf of the Women's Auxiliary of the Synagog.

To Summer Vacationers: By D. B. Kauffman

You are preparing for a summer vacation to which you are entitled, and we do not wish to sadden your happy thoughts with distressing stories. However, if you could spend just one day in the Federation Office and listen to the tales of human suffering and sorrow, you would soon realize that it is imperative to relate them.

Here is something to think about:

The following is quoted from a letter which we received from the Dept. of Public Health concerning a family, consisting of father, mother and eight small children, residing at the described place.

"This building is so dilapidated and in need of so much repairing that it is absolutely unfit for habitation." Decay strikes the eye at the front door, where the sill of the door frame was rotted out several years ago and where the floor is broken for some inches back, leaving a hole large enough for a dog to get through easily. The whole ground floor is unfit for use, window sash missing. The upstairs is in practically the same condition. The wife of the occupant was sweeping out water lying on the dirty floor of the kitchen, which resembles a shower bath more than a living room. Not one inch of the ceiling was dry. The roof is no protection from the rain. The mud and dirt on the floor and stairs would need a scraper to clean it up."

We have just moved the family to a home for which we pay $35.00 monthly, and at least $500.00 is needed to rehabilitate this family.

There are more families who live under the same described conditions in our midst.

There is a new application from a widow with seven small children, who are entirely dependent. She may be able to receive a mother's allowance, but she must be supported until she secures it, and even then her allowance will have to be supplemented for a number of years.

There are fifteen other widows, with children, whose mothers' allowances are being supplemented by the Family Welfare Board.

There is Mrs. K. with five small children, deserted by her husband and entirely dependent upon the support of the Family Welfare Board.

There are twelve other mothers with children whose husbands deserted them and who are entirely dependent. We can keep on enumerating dozens and dozens of families who need continuous support, either because of desertion, widowhood, sickness, old age or other causes of distress.

It is very distressing indeed to see how comparatively few are really interested in the poor. Many are every ready to criticize the Family Welfare Board for not assisting this family or that family, or for not giving adequate relief, but they never contribute a cent to the Federation. Many think that they are doing their duty by giving a dime or a quarter when collections are made for so-called poor families, but they utterly ignore the fact that the poor can no longer be looked after properly in the old-fashioned way of handkerchief collections. Most of our poor families need adequate and continuous relief, many for years.

Another unfortunate situation is that even some of our best leaders are divided up into small groups, and instead of uniting all forces to create a real communal consciousness and to study intelligently and definitely the needs of the community, each group is interested in its own little fad, thus causing the real communal activities to suffer.

Please let us remember, gymnasias, swimming pools, parks, boulevards, communal centres, and other social and cultural institutions are great assets to communal life, but as long as families are compelled to live in hovels as des-of students to the Sunday School. Etta Salamansky made the presentation.

Miss Krasnow played another selection on the violin with Miss Wolfson at the piano, concluding the exercises.

EDITOR,

CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW:

Please insert the following open letter:

To the Toronto Jewish Community:

It is indeed regrettable that the "Camp Committee" report having received only $1,500.00, approximately, at this date.

The Jews of this city know the crying need for fresh air, good food, moral teaching and exercise, for the youngsters less fortunately situated than the average. If you have lived in the close, stifling atmosphere with no fresh breezes and no cooling waters to cleanse your inner and outer being, you realize the situation when I tell you that $5.00 will care for one youngster for one whole week.

Some citizens have subscribed generously, most have not subscribed at all, to the fund that will create strong and better youths. Have you done your share to help your fellow-being? "Help the boy!" and do it now. Your subscription to Mr. E. Scheuer, Yonge Street, will be acknowledged in this paper.

Sincerely,

MORT LEVY,

Chairman of the Boys' and Girls' Camp Fund.

Herzl-wald Memorial

At the luncheon meeting of the Hadassah Council, held at the Zionist Institute last Thursday, it was decided that all chapters co-operate to fittingly commemorate Dr. Herzl's yahrzeit, by purchasing jointly at least one grove (100) trees in the Herzl-wald, and that in addition, all members and friends of Hadassah be urged to buy trees individually.

Mrs. I. H. Siegel has accepted co-sponsorship of all arrangements for the Hadassah Herzl-wald, and Mrs. M. Geldzaeler has consented to act as treasurer. Those desiring to contribute to the fund are urged to telephone to either Mrs. Siegel (Gladstone 980) or Mrs. Geldzaeler (Hillcrest 1092).

HEBREW NATIONAL TO HOLD BANQUET

The Hebrew National Association held their weekly executive meeting Wednesday, June 13, at the Association's office, 410 Dundas Street West, with Mr. Handelsman, the vice-president, presiding. Mr. Rose, the representative, reported that there are 21 patients in the General Hospital, 11 at the Western Hospital, 3 at St. Michael's Hospital, 25 at the Queen Street Asylum, and that 38 patients applied at the Outdoor Dept. of the General Hospital for medicine. He interpreted for 53 patients. Two city orders were secured for poor patients to General Hospital. Arrangements were made to have a diabetic case admitted to St. Michael's.

A diabetic who left the General Hospital and requires further treatment, is being assisted with $5.00 per week towards the cost of the weekly inoculation.

Several applicants for help were heard and all were considered and helped. Among them were two mothers who have sons in the asylum. The cases were investigated and were reported favourably with the result that they are released on probation for three months under a bond of the Association.

It was decided to appoint a committee to investigate and report on patients transferred from the local asylum to other provincial asylums. The committee will be composed of Mr. Scher, president, Mr. Lent, treasurer, and Mr. Kirchenbaum, secretary.

It was unanimously decided to hold a banquet for members to celebrate the tenth year since the founding of the Association, to be held August 5, in the Beth Jacob Synagog, on Henry Street.

Church Union

The Presbyterian Church of Canada in convention assembled after years of debate and deliberation finally adopted a resolution in favour of Church Union. This means that one of the most conservative and influential of the Protestant denominations in Canada has decided to move with the times. It is a decided step in religious progress.

The Church Union movement is not of recent origin. It has concerned the best minds in Protestantism for a great many years. It is a movement which has in view the union or amalgamation of the Anglican, Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational groups of the Protestant Church. The favourable vote of the Presbyterian Church now lines up, we believe, three of the four denominations and leaves only the Anglicans to carry the movement to a successful climax.

The debates pro and con for over a generation, and the polemical literature which grew up around this issue of Church Union would make a respectable library. Those of us who are outside of Protestantism are frankly not much concerned with the legal, technical and financial problems which served the debaters in their contentions. But we are deeply interested in the basic motives underlying the great controversy. Strangely enough these fundamental elements did not seem to play a great role in the public discussion, though they were undoubtedly the real and primary cause. We have reference to the changes in mental attitude of the average man to-day towards the church, the clergy and the church dogmas.

For generations the mind of the world was focussed upon salvation. To be saved and to go to heaven was a matter of the most vital concern. The church was the one agency on earth in a position to guarantee salvation, and the observance of dogmas, creeds and rituals was the only method through which salvation could be attained. The clergy were regarded as the chosen instruments of the church, invested with powers to direct fallible humans to the end sought by all. The eyes of mankind were directed heavenwards. This world was merely the outside corridor through which we were compelled to pass, in order to enter the kingdom of heaven and everlasting life. The question of eternity is no mean concern and in an age when education was the privilege of the Jew it was not meant for the average man to take any chances with his soul.

In the last fifty years a decided change has taken place. Education has spread and accompanying it an unprecedented advance in science has gone. The average man to-day is better informed about the world than the philosopher of ages gone by. The church has been separated from the state and the individual no longer lives under the dread authority and fear of the clergy and the church. He is a free agent in matters of religion. He can choose to go to hell if he so desires, and is no longer compelled to crowd heaven. Religion is no longer regarded by intelligent people as a transaction recording a stated revolution and a historic contract made with the Almighty. Dogmas and creeds are therefore not clothed with the same sacredness as formally and their non-observance is not a sure indication that the soul of the non-observer is lost.

Hosts of liberal-thinking people look upon religion as a process and not as a transaction. Religion is a bigger and broader thing than theology. Religion is the indestructible longing of man for God and changes as man's conception of God and his knowledge of nature grow. Theology is merely the grammar of religion. And when the rules of grammar become so rigid as to stifle the development of language these rules must be discarded and give way to new laws which are better suited. The laws of theology unfortunately have not yielded to the same spirit of change and growth on account of its claim to being God-made instead of man-made. The new spirit of liberalism abroad in the world has infected us all and even in the sphere of religion we are no longer willing to be driven by the whip of authority. We do not mind following, but we wish first to understand, and to observe because we understand, rather than because the doctors of theology tell us "Thus spake the Lord."

As a result of this new spirit in the life of the average man, the world no longer looks heavenward. Our principal concern is not how can we get to heaven but rather how can we bring a little heaven down to earth. We do not regard the world as a test in puritanical endurance and as a preliminary to the world to come. The problem of modern times is that of arranging the little world of ours that every one who lives in it shall have a fair chance to develop the best in him and to be happy in his own way.

As we look about us we find a world full of corruption and exploitation. Love, justice and righteousness are still a matter of futurity. The creeds, rituals and dogmas, which the doctors of theology preach and which have made Christendom a house divided against itself, do not answer our needs nor meet our social wants. So long as people thought only of heaven, there was room for sectarian division. Every new church found its raison d'être in that it and it alone possessed the golden key to salvation. New sects came into being on that basis. Competition between the denominations was in order and it flourished with warlike avidity. Each church argued that its dogmas and strict observance of its rituals lead over the shortest road to heaven. Is it any wonder then that under this conception of life and religion new Messiahs and prophets had no difficulty in establishing brand new churches and in winning converts? With the change in the intellectual and religious outlook of the world the bottom has fallen out of the creedal and denominational groups in Protestantism. The different sects and churches have lost their foundations. This is evident to them in loss in church membership, and in many other ways. The hell-and-brimstone sermons the old-fashioned preachers preached to the grandfathers and grandmothers of the present generation now fall on deaf ears. It is social salvation not personal salvation which the world is now craving.

The church has been realizing its failure to save souls in the old-fashioned way and has endeavored in new ways to attract the masses.

The quondam prayer meetings and evangelical sermons have given way to institutional churches with gymnasia, dance halls and meeting rooms, all for the purpose of attracting the young. The ministers now preach on the politics, the latest novels and plays, anything and everything to catch the attention of the crowd—all in the hope that the pill of salvation will be sweet in the sugar-coated form of modernism.

But it has all been in vain. The masses of people have been quick to detect the trick. What they are hungering for is a radical change in the mental and spiritual outlook of the churches and the clergy.

The Church Union movement is at bottom the first indication of the fact that the Protestant sects are realizing what has been going on. They have sensed the new spirit and are preparing to meet it. To accomplish success with a broken front has proved impossible. To longer continue the futility is absurd. The Protestant Church in order to become a living church has found out that it must clear away the debris of sectarianism and the fossilized remains of the outworn creedal theologies, which served only to divide them into competing camps. Not theology, but the living

Election Day, June 25th, 1923

Every Friday

At the Conference of Religious and Welfare Workers which met in Washington last week to assure Secretary Weeks that preparedness is essential to American safety, were Rabbi Morris S. Lazaron, of Baltimore, and Dr. Cyrus Adler, president of the Jewish Welfare Board. The latter presided over the sessions, while the former was a member of the committee which, from its height of spiritual leadership, declared in a series of pronouncements, against "any attempt to deny the support of the churches to the welfare of the army and navy under the cloak of religion, and in the name of false pacifism," and against pursuing peace "unarmed and undefended, the quickest way to invite war."

Mind you, this happened June 8, 1923, not in the war-wild days when such men were propagandists as now, but with the better excuse that few can keep cool heads at a time when men run in packs. Then most of them were pitiful spectacles, doing mere lip service to that age-old commandment "thou shalt not kill," trying to out-shout conscience and teachings with deafening oratory in which they sought to square theory and practice. Later they were even sadder sights in their efforts to show what humanity had gained in democracy, in face of the fact that the United States itself, with its political prisoners and no freedom of speech, is one of the most reactionary countries on the globe. Now their energy on behalf of armament is excessive and contradictory, considering their former expansive promises about no more wars.

When such a rabbi travels to Washington to encourage a new war by provision of weapons for it (just because the country happens to be in a state of peace, such as it is) it may be inferred that the community he left behind him needs no voice for the poor, the sick, those oppressed by miscarriage of justice, the underpaid, the over-worked, or for prison reform and the like. When a rabbi in a country which already spends more than 85 per cent. of its income on war and only 3 per cent. of it on education throws his influence on the side of further costly preparedness which will yoke posterity, he removes himself from the category of men committed to the cause of education and spiritual leadership into the department of potential munitions manufacturers. As such his church deserves to lose its hold on its people, and his pulpit its power for good, and that these things may be happening in Baltimore as elsewhere can be no subject for tears, but rather for hearty satisfaction.

In Europe anti-Semitism breaks out in one form or another almost daily. Now there are anti-Jewish-riots in Rumania, and in Vienna there is contemplated an anti-Semitic Internationale which will be more "adequate" than anything heretofore at work against the Jews. But in America with Fair Harvard fair again and rational on the subject of Jewish students, and the hot weather down south more than likely arresting the ardor of the Ku Klux Klan, anti-Semitism is at such a low ebb, and so confined to merely annoying forms that we have no right to complain at all considering the comparative comfort most of us enjoy all the time. Then, too, we never could claim the Klan as ours entirely since we have good company in the Catholics and Negroes which it hates.

Summer anti-Semitism is purely social and means that certain camps won't take the kids while certain hotels refuse service to the parents, while on the other hand hundreds of thousands of parents and children go through life without experiencing more than being called bad names that are only irritating after all. On this continent there are not nearly so many opportunities denied Jews for self-development wherever they want it as there are Jews denying themselves opportunities which await them as well as those of any other race.

The cry of anti-Semitism is raised perhaps too quickly by Jews who seem to have everything and enjoy everything possible, and who are thriving with all the robustness of any class. It is often those loudest in their denunciation of what is really the mildest sort of anti-Semitism, who are the most active in keeping from their own clubs and cliques fellow-Jews just a little farther behind them in the stream of immigration.

Rivka says: "The girls may have given different reasons for bobbing their hair, but they all feel the same about it now."

The marriage was quietly solemnized last Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Creed, Glen Road, of Lilan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Moscovitz, Portland, Ore., to Mr. Albert E. Miller, son of Mrs. C. Miller, Toronto. Rabbi B. Brickner officiated. The bride, who was unattended, wore her travelling suit of blue cloth with hat to match and silver fox fur, and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and ophelia roses. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Miller left on a honeymoon trip for Montreal and other points, and later will go to St. John to reside for an indefinite period.

Devoretsky-Breslin

A very pretty wedding took place on Sunday, June 10, at the McCaul Street Synagog, when Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Breslin, was united in marriage to Mr. Samuel Devoretsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Devoretsky, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Cantor Saitz and Rabbi Gordon.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white kitten's ear crepe, with beautiful Spanish lace and embroidered with pearls. Her veil was very prettily arranged in the bridal coronet style and was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bride was given away by her father.

Miss Rhoda Breslin, sister of the bride, acted as flower girl, and looked pretty in a pink georgette frock, and carried a basket of American beauties.

Mrs. Breslin, mother of the bride, wore a black crepe charmeuse gown, a rope of pearls, and a corsage of American beauties.

Mrs. Devoretsky, mother of the groom, wore a black crepe charmeuse gown and carried American beauties.

Among the out-of-town guests were, Mr. M. Devoretsky, brother of the groom, Cleveland; Mr. A. Aronovsky, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. O. Pattenick, Lindsay, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. S. Breslin, Oshawa; Miss Eunice Breslin, Walkerton, Ont.

Members of the McCaul Street Synagog presented the couple with a beautiful case of silverware.

GERMAN ANTI-SEMITIC PROFESSOR RESIGNS

Berlin (J.T.A.)—Professor Leonard, winner of the Nobel prize for physics, has tendered his resignation to the University of Heidelberg with which he was connected.

While no reason is given, it is believed to be due to the fact that Leonard was recently disciplined by the University administration for his continuance of his college classes during the funeral of Dr. Walter Rathenau. With the exception of Prof. Leonard's classes, all collegiate instruction was suspended during the funeral.

Prof. Leonard has been one of the leaders of the anti-Semitic agitation. Recently he received much publicity by his appeal to the Nobel Prize Commission to rescind the Nobel prize it has awarded to Professor Einstein on the ground that Prof. Einstein "did not sufficiently represent the German spirit."

Shaar Hashomayim Religious School Closing Exercises

The large assembly hall of the Synagog was taxed to capacity on the Sunday afternoon of the graduation and closing exercises of the Sunday School Department of the Religious School. Besides the more than 300 children of the School, there were as many interested parents and children present to witness this annual school event. As usual on this occasion, the entire programme was carried out by the members of the graduating class, which this year numbered twenty-one. They marched into the hall headed by their teacher, Miss S. Solomon, and occupied reserved seats near the platform. On the platform were seated the Rabbi and President of the Congregation, and members of the Board of Trustees, and of the School Committee, and also a distinguished visitor in the person of Dr. Leo Molskin.

The Chairman of the School Committee, Mr. J. Levinson, Sr., presided. The programme was opened with a prayer read by Rhoda Lande. The other numbers were: a paper, "Some Jewish Women I Have Studied About," by Jeannette Markowitz; piano solo, by Gladys Samit; class prophecy, by Helen Park; a paper on "The Study of Hebrew," by Harold Lande; class poem, by Ida Tannenbaum; valedictory, by Louis de Zwirek; closing prayer, by Dorothy Bloomfield. Dr. Abramowitz then addressed the graduates and distributed diplomas to the following: Louis de Zwirek, Morris Katz, Edith Lepine, Robert Cohen, Harold Lande, Annie Gradinger, Helen Park, Reba Epstein, Clarence Talpis, Daniel J. Elkin, Mendel K. Deaner, Dorothy Bloomfield, Ida Tannenbaum, Jeannette Markowitz, Hillel Ginsberg, Elliott Levinoff, Lyon Cohen, Rhoda M. Lande, Bladys Samit, Rita Decker, Louisa Boidman.

Mr. Lyon Cohen addressed the gathering and distributed the medals and prizes to the following members of the graduating class: Louis de Zwirek, The Bloomfield Memorial Medal (gold); Harold Lande, the Sarah Goldie Cohen Memorial Medal (gold); Clarence Talpis, The Lazarus Cohen Memorial Medal (silver); Ida Tannenbaum, the Wm. and Hannah Jacobs Memorial Medal (silver); Dorothy Bloomfield, the M. Marcus Memorial Medal (silver); Jeannette Markowitz, the Moss Memorial Medal (silver). In addition to that the head pupils in each class received bank book accounts, derived from a fund left for the purpose by the late D. A. Ansell. The Amelia Hyman Memorial Prize was won by Carol Michaels. Besides the above, over a hundred prizes in books donated by friends of the school were distributed to deserving pupils in the different classes.

The bar-mitzvah boys of the year, of whom there were twenty, were called to the platform and registered in a special book for the purpose, and thus consecrated themselves into the Bar-mitzvah Club of the year 5683.

The closing of the Hebrew department of this school takes place Sunday afternoon, June 24, when an interesting programme will be carried out, and the Pauline Gordon Memorial Medal (gold), and the Jacob Hirsch Memorial Prize (books), and other prizes will be distributed to pupils who have made most progress in their Hebrew studies. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Jacob Doled and Dr. Meyer Notkin Signally Honored

Jacob Doled, who has been conducting chemical researches on some resins in rubber, was recently awarded the degree of Ph.D. at McGill University. Dr. Doled and Dr. Ezra Lozinsky, M.Sc., were both elected to the Sigma Xi Society, which is an honorary fraternity of men who have shown ability in research.

Dr. Meyer Notkin, lecturer in the Department of Zoology, McGill University, has been appointed to the Visiting Staff of the Montreal General Hospital as junior assistant in medicine.

Montreal-Hadassah extends its heartiest thanks to all the workers who were instrumental in making the Hadassah Lawn Fête so huge a success—socially and financially. Thanks are due especially to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bramson for the use of their beautiful grounds.

Central Hadassah Entertains

The Central Chapter of Hadassah entertained at a social evening on Monday, June 18, in the hall of the Fairmount Synagog. spirit of a socialized religion is what the people want. A religion which is concerned not with a God who punishes the wicked and rewards the pious with a seat in the Garden of Eden, but a religion which preaches social justice and righteousness, love and peace, and not merely preaches it but sees to its establishment. A church that is militant against the existing forms of social injustice and wrong. A clergy that is not holier than thou but so human that they are filled with the pathetic passion for abolishing poverty and establishing those conditions of life in which every child born into the world will have a decent chance to enjoy the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The test will come when the movement of church union begins to work itself out in actual practice. It is on the right tract unless someone shunts it and we in the Synagog shall watch this movement with the utmost attention and interest. For us it has a special significance in that it reveals a particular tendency that is inevitable, the tendency of liberals in all religions to move back to the sphere of the Hebrew prophets. Every great protest and reformation, in the history of the Christian Church has manifested this tendency. We rejoice to see it recurring. May its progress be a speedy one.

Barnett R. Brickner

HAMILTON

Rabbi Berlin in Hamilton

Rabbi Meyer Berlin, president of the Mizrahi organization of the United States and Canada, addressed a crowded audience on Sunday evening in the Beth Jacob Synagog, his subject being the "Re-building of Palestine." He spoke on the rapid progress now being made there, of the wonderful spirit of the Chazuzim, who have made their home in the old-new land of our forefathers. The hardships encountered by all of them, who have so willingly volunteered to build roads and so forth to help develop the land. What Palestine needed was money, large sums of money, which must come from Canadian and American Jews. Eastern and central Europe can give us the man-power, a marvelous man-power that has passed through the fire and sword, but we must furnish the money if we wish to reconvert Palestine into a land "flowing with milk and honey."

But the speaker went on to say this was not all; the Mizrahi must be represented more strongly in Palestine, if we want our influence felt there. Schools and synagog must be built by us, if we aim to instill and imbue the spirit of orthodox Judaism there. An appeal for money was made, about $200 being collected.

Rabbi S. Levin, President of the Hamilton Mizrahi, introduced the speaker. He was followed by Mr. Wm. Farrar, who delivered a short and impressive address, and Rev. J. Levinson sang two solos, which were greatly applauded.

After the lecture, refreshments were served in the vestry rooms of the Synagog, the Mizrahi ladies being in charge. They were Mesdames A. Halpern, M. Gribblatt, I. Robinson, H. Sobel.

FIRST LOSS FOR THE BETH JACOB DOVES

A large number of visitors paid their respects to Mrs. Dover during the afternoon. Mrs. S. G. Tritt, Mrs. J. Gross and Mrs. C. J. Cohen, all of Montreal, and Mrs. E. Spector, assisted in the reception room, which was adorned with sweet peas and garden flowers.

Wearing her wedding gown of silver brocade cloth, caught at the side with a pearl ornament, the young bride was much admired. Mrs. Lacker wore a gown of Persian black lace and Mrs. Nathanson was in a dainty dress of powder blue georgette, trimmed with French flowers.

The tea room and tea table were tastily decorated. Mrs. Joseph Cohen, of Montreal, presided at the tea table, and Mrs. J. Kizell cut the ices. They were assisted by Misses Lily Ginsburg, Ann Golub, Thelma Dover, Sylvia Dover, Jean Ross, Ann Spector and little Miss Sylvia Cohen, of Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dover, Henderson Avenue, were at home last Sunday at a delightful reception in honour of their son Robert, who was confirmed at Rideau Street Synagog on Saturday. The house was beautifully decorated with spring flowers, and guests were received by Mrs. H. Dover and Mrs. J. Kizell.

Mrs. A. Dover poured tea and Mrs. F. H. Sinclair, coffee, while Mrs. Dave Herman, of Rutherglen, Ont., cut the ices.

Assisting were Miss Mildred Fried, of North Bay, Miss Esther Richter, Miss Thelma Dover and Miss Sylvia Dover.

The young man in whose honour the reception was held is a particularly bright student and attends the Hebrew School.

SAMUEL RETURNS SAFELY TO JERUSALEM; TWO MORE BRITISH ESCORT DEAD

Jerusalem (J.T.A.)—The High Commissioner, Sir Herbert Samuel arrived safely in Jerusalem yesterday after presiding at the exercises celebrating the inclusion in the Palestine territory of Mettulah, the northernmost Jewish colony.

Two more British gendarmes of the ten who were ambushed by Bedouins after escorting the High Commissioner, are dead of wounds. This makes a total of five dead, and one captured. It is now stated that the brigands' attack took place as the escort which served as a vanguard for the High Commissioner, who was with a rear party, was proceeding north toward Mettulah, and not on its return trip south, as previous reports had it. The brigands, it is asserted also, were Bedouins from across the Jordan, and not members of a Palestine tribe.

Sir Herbert is leaving for London the end of this month for an extended vacation. Sir Gilbert Clayton, Civil Secretary, will act for the High Commissioner until the latter's return in September.

Completion of arrangements for the Palestine loan and the jurisdiction of the local Jewish communities in Palestine, are among the questions the High Commissioner is expected to consider with the British government during his holiday.
